RANCH SORTING RULES

At the start of the event, 11 cows (10 of which are numbered 0-9, and one of which is left unmarked) wait in one of two adjoining pens. Two riders cross the opening between the two pens, starting the time and signaling for the judge to read out the number of the first cow to be cut.

Each cow must enter the second pen in numerical order - starting with the number called by the judge at start time, followed last by the unmarked cow. If any cow or part of a cow crosses the line (opening) out of turn, the team is immediately disqualified. It takes strategy, teamwork, and stock knowledge.
